1. The preliminary amendment filed with this reissue application has been entered in the case.

2. The drawings are objected to because there is no illustration of a common source of a control signal (as shown in instant Fig. 2, there are multiple, respective control signals applied to the capacitive elements 30 via input terminals 33). It is also not clear in what sense the control signal is "in common" (note the indefiniteness rejection below). The drawings are also objected to because the limitation set forth in the claims regarding selective enabling/disabling of the plural amplifier cells is not seen either. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

3. Claims 47-114 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

The claimed invention is not enabled by the present specification/drawings in view of the above-noted problems with what is now being claimed vis-à-vis what is supported by the drawings. In addition, because there are two different sets of control signals in applicant's invention, it cannot be determined which applicant is referring to, i.e., those controlling the current sources 17, 19 and 21, or those controlling the capacitive elements 30. The same problem exists for the recitation in the claims of "common terminals" (see, for example, claim 62).

4. Claims 47-114 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is not understood what is meant by the recotation of a "common source of a control signal". In what manner is the control signal "in common" (i.e., in common with what, and where is this shown in the drawings/described in the specification)? Applicant should make appropriate amendments to the claims and/or specification so as to make clear what is being claimed in this reissue application.

5. In view of the above-noted problems with the drawings, sepecification and claims, no prior art can be applied against the claims at this time. This is not an indication of allowability.

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Kenneth B. Wells whose telephone number is (571)272-1757. The examiner
